

XING E-Recruiting 360°

Always find the right candidates.

1. Unfilled vacancies jeopardise your economic success.

The working world is experiencing the greatest transformation since the Industrial Revolution. With progressive digitalisation, the shortage of skilled labour is increasingly becoming a problem for employers, and demographic change exacerbates this effect. In Germany alone, unfilled positions cost medium-sized enterprises around €53.4 billion each year.¹

2. Your HR team is faced with completely new challenges.

95% of German companies have difficulties filling vacancies.² That's because candidates have changed as well. These days, jobs are increasingly sought via social networks. You need to start using digital recruiting channels now to keep pace and attract the right people in the future.

3. Score in the most important recruitment disciplines.

The market has seemingly endless possibilities and a wide range of e-recruiting solutions. With XING E-Recruiting 360° you have a partner by your side who can support you and offer all of the required disciplines from a single source. Particularly with positions that are difficult to fill, you often need to use multiple channels and methods in tandem.

4. Prepare for the future, today!

XING E-Recruiting 360° combines five recruiting tools, consisting of the most effective channels currently available, in a single licence package. The products can be used on their own but are more effective when combined. Create your own recruiting mix for each vacancy and reduce your time to hire. The Recruiter Insights let you review your performance in the tools you use at any time, while also delivering statistics for you to benchmark your performance with other companies.

You'll also receive personal service and exclusive additional benefits.

XING E-Recruiting 360°
